

This technology has the possibility of a substantial risk of interference to the HF frequencies.